DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-11, drawn to a particle analyzing apparatus having at least one fluorescent light detector, classified in class 422, subclass 68.1, for example.
 - II. Claims 12-19, drawn to a particle analyzing apparatus having multiple detectors for detecting particles at multiple wavelengths, classified in class 422, subclass 68.1, for example.
 - III. Claims 20-25, drawn to a particle analyzing apparatus having a capillary tube with selected internal cross-section diameter for singulate particle flow, classified in class 422, subclass 68.1, for example.
 - IV. Claims 26-28, drawn to a method of detecting tagged particles, classified in class 435, subclass 287.1.
 - V. Claims 29-33, drawn to a particle analyzing apparatus having a detector which includes a fiber optic waveguide, classified in class 422, subclass 68.1, for example.
2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I, II, III, and V are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I has separate utility such as for determining viability of cells labeled for a particular cellular activity, Invention II has separate utility such as for determining protein secreted from cells which are trapped into gel-microdrops at different wavelengths, invention III has separate utility such as for sorting cell populations having predetermined cell sizes, and Invention V has separate utility such as for determining kinetic activity of cell surface-bound receptors. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions I, II, III, V and Invention IV are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case, the process as claimed in Invention IV can be performed using an optical trapping or tweezing device.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. Furthermore, because the search required for Group I is not required for Group II and the search required for Group III is not required for Group IV and further not required for Group V, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. Literature search for each method and apparatus is distinct since the structural requirements of each invention are different. While searches would be expected to overlap, there is no reason to expect the searches to be coextensive.

3. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
